FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF ALABAMA
SOUTHERN DIVISION

MELVIN McCASKILL,	:
Plaintiff,	:
vs.	:	CA 05-0621-BH-C
JO ANNE B. BARNHART,	:
Commissioner of Social Security,	:
Defendant.	:

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

This cause is before the Court for entry of a report and recommendation, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B) and Rule 54(d)(2)(D) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, on plaintiff's application for attorney's fees under the Equal Access to Justice Act ("EAJA"), 28 U.S.C. § 2412. (Doc. 18; see also Doc. 19) Upon consideration of all pertinent materials contained in this file, it is determined that plaintiff should receive a reasonable attorney's fee in the amount of $1,000.00 under the EAJA for legal services rendered by his attorney in this Court.

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. On June 28, 2006 this Court entered a Rule 58 judgment reversing and remanding this cause to the Commissioner of Social Security pursuant to sentence four of 42 U.S.C. § 405(g) for further proceedings. (Doc. 17; see also Doc. 16)

2. The application for attorney's fees under the EAJA was filed on September 5, 2006 (Docs. 18-19), some sixty-nine (69) days after entry of final judgment (compare id. with Doc. 17). In the application, plaintiff requests attorney's fees in the amount of $1,000.00 to compensate his attorney for the time spent representing him before this Court as of the date of the filing of the fee application. (See Doc. 18)

3. The Commissioner of Social Security filed a response to plaintiff's EAJA fee application on September 18, 2006 and therein contends that her position in this litigation was substantially justified. (See Doc. 21)

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. The Equal Access to Justice Act requires a district court to "award to a prevailing party . . . fees and other expenses . . . incurred by that party in any civil action . . ., including proceedings for judicial review of agency action, brought by or against the United States . . ., unless the court finds that the position of the United States was substantially justified or that special circumstances make an award unjust." 28 U.S.C. § 2412(d)(1)(A)

2. The Commissioner contends that her position regarding plaintiff's residual functional capacity was reasonable based upon the facts of the case and pertinent case law. Specifically, even though the Commissioner concedes that "the ALJ concurred with the physical residual functional capacity assessment completed by the Agency's disability examiner, in finding that Plaintiff could perform a full range of light work," (Doc. 21, at 3) she argues that "there was nothing that required him to accept every restriction outlined by the disability examiner, especially those restrictions that were inconsistent with the objective medical evidence." (Id.) While this argument may be true in theory, in order for this Court to know that the ALJ did not accept all of the restrictions found by a disability examiner, upon whose opinion the ALJ's decision rested (see Tr. 18 ("Reviewing the overall record, the undersigned must concur with the State agency disability examiner on the Physical Residual Functional Capacity Assessment (Exhibit 14F)."), the ALJ necessarily would have to specifically reject those restrictions he did not agree with particularly in a case, like the present, where the central RFC activities at issue were the claimant's abilities to walk and stand (see Tr. 19 (ALJ's rejection of Dr. Walid Freij's opinion that plaintiff "could not perform work related activities that required standing or walking for basically any period of time[.]”)). In light of the foregoing, the undersigned finds that there was no reasonable basis in law or fact for the ALJ to rely on an RFC assessment as establishing a claimant’s ability to perform a certain level of activity in absence of a specific rejection of those restrictions contained on the assessment which contraindicated the full range of activity found by the ALJ. See Pierce v. Underwood, 487 U.S. 552, 566 n.2, 108 S.Ct. 2541, 2550 n.2, 101 L.Ed.2d 490 (1988) (“[A] position can be justified even though it is not correct, and we believe it can be substantially (i.e., for the most part) justified if a reasonable person could think it correct, that is, if it has a reasonable basis in law and fact.”). Accordingly, the undersigned recommends that the Court reject the Commissioner’s argument that her position in this case was substantially justified.

3. The Commissioner makes no argument that plaintiff is not a prevailing party under the EAJA (see Doc. 21);¹ therefore, the Court focuses its attention on other matters.

4. The EAJA requires a prevailing party to file an application for attorney's fees within thirty (30) days of final judgment in the action. 28 U.S.C.

§ 2412(d)(1)(B). The thirty-day clock did not begin to run in this case until this Court's reversal and remand order of June 28, 2006 became final, which occurred at the end of the sixty (60) days for appeal provided under Rule 4(a)(1) of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, see Shalala v. Schaefer, 509 U.S. 292, 302, 113 S.Ct. 2625, 2632, 125 L.Ed.2d 239 (1993), that is, August 27, 2006. The application filed in this case, bearing a date of September 5, 2006, is timely since it was filed within thirty days of August 27, 2006.

5. The EAJA, like 42 U.S.C. § 1988, is a fee-shifting statute. The Supreme Court has indicated that "the most useful starting point for determining the amount of a reasonable fee is the number of hours reasonably expended on the litigation multiplied by a reasonable hourly rate." Watford v. Heckler, 765 F.2d 1562, 1568 (11th Cir. 1985) (EAJA), quoting Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 433, 103 S.Ct. 1933, 1939, 76 L.Ed.2d 40 (1983)(§ 1988); see Jean v. Nelson, 863 F.2d 759, 772-773 (11th Cir. 1988) (discussing the reasonableness of the hours expended in the context of contentions by the government that the fee requests were not supported by sufficient documentation and often involved a duplication of effort), aff'd sub nom. Commissioner, I.N.S. v. Jean, 496 U.S. 154, 110 S.Ct. 2316, 110 L.Ed.2d 134

This calculation provides an objective basis on which to make an initial estimate of the value of a lawyer's services. The party seeking an award of fees should submit evidence supporting the hours worked and the rates claimed. Where the documentation of hours is inadequate, the district court may reduce the award accordingly. The district court also should exclude from this initial fee calculation hours that were not "reasonably expended." . . . Cases may be overstaffed, and the skill and experience of lawyers vary widely. Counsel for the prevailing party should make a good-faith effort to exclude from a fee request hours that are excessive, redundant, or otherwise unnecessary, just as a lawyer in private practice ethically is obligated to exclude such hours from his fee submission. "In the private sector, 'billing judgment' is an important component in fee setting. It is no less important here. Hours that are not properly billed to one's client also are not properly billed to one's adversary pursuant to statutory authority."

Hensley, supra, 461 U.S. at 433-434, 103 S.Ct. at 1939-1940 (citations omitted); see also id., at 437, 103 S.Ct. at 1941 ("[T]he fee applicant bears the burden of establishing entitlement to an award and documenting the appropriate hours expended and hourly rates."); ACLU of Georgia v. Barnes, 168 F.3d 423, 428 (11th Cir.1999) ("If fee applicants do not exercise billing judgment, courts are obligated to do it for them, to cut the amount of hours for which payment is sought, pruning out those that are 'excessive, redundant, or otherwise unnecessary.’ Courts are not authorized to be generous with the money of others, and it is as much the duty of courts to see that excessive fees and expenses are not awarded as it is to see that an adequate amount is awarded.”); Norman v. Housing Authority, 836 F.2d 1292, 1301 (11th Cir. 1988) (“Excluding excessive or otherwise unnecessary hours under the rubric of ‘billing judgment’ means that a lawyer may not be compensated for hours spent on activities for which he would not bill a client of means who was seriously intent on vindicating similar rights, recognizing that in the private sector the economically rational person engages in some cost benefit analysis.”).

6. In Norman, supra, the Eleventh Circuit indicated that “the measure of reasonable hours is determined by the profession’s judgment of the time that may be conscionably billed and not the least time in which it might theoretically have been done.” 836 F.2d at 1306.

7. Because the defendant interposes no objection whatsoever to the fee petition, the undersigned does not hesitate in recommending that the Court find that plaintiff’s counsel reasonably spent 8 hours on legal tasks in this case.

8. With respect to a determination of the hourly rate to apply in a given EAJA case, for services performed by attorneys, the express language of the Act, as amended by the Contract with America Advancement Act of 1996, provides in pertinent part as follows:

The amount of fees awarded under this subsection shall be based upon prevailing market rates for the kind and quality of the services furnished, except that . . . attorney fees shall not be awarded in excess of $125.00 per hour unless the court determines that an increase in the cost of living or a special factor, such as the limited availability of qualified attorneys for the proceedings involved, justifies a higher fee.

28 U.S.C. § 2412(d)(2)(A) (Cum.Supp. 1997).

9. In Meyer v. Sullivan, 958 F.2d 1029 (1992), the Eleventh Circuit determined that the EAJA establishes a two-step analysis for determining the appropriate hourly rate to be applied in calculating attorney's fees under the Act.

The first step in the analysis, . . . is to determine the market rate for "similar services [provided] by lawyers of reasonably comparable skills, experience, and reputation." . . . The second step, which is needed only if the market rate is greater than $[125] per hour, is to determine whether the court should adjust the hourly fee upward from $[125] to take into account an increase in the cost of living, or a special factor.

Id. at 1033-1034 (citations and footnote omitted).

10. The prevailing market rate in the Southern District of Alabama has been raised to $125.00 per hour. See, e.g., Willits v. Massanari, CA 00-0530-RV-C; Boggs v. Massanari, 00-0408-P-C; Boone v. Apfel, CA 99-0965-CB-L. Because the market rate is not greater than the statutory rate of $125.00 per hour, the Court need not reach the second step set out in the Meyer case.

11. In consideration of the foregoing, the plaintiff should be awarded an attorney's fee in the amount of $1,000.00 under the EAJA for the 8 hours his attorney spent performing work traditionally performed by attorneys in social security cases.

CONCLUSION

The Magistrate Judge recommends that plaintiff be awarded attorney's fees in the amount of $1,000.00 under the Equal Access to Justice Act, representing compensation for 8 hours of service by Colin E. Kemmerly, Esquire, at the market rate of $125.00 an hour.

MAGISTRATE JUDGE'S EXPLANATION OF PROCEDURAL RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES FOLLOWING RECOMMENDATION, AND FINDINGS CONCERNING NEED FOR TRANSCRIPT

1. Objection. Any party who objects to this recommendation or anything in it must, within ten days of the date of service of this document, file specific written objections with the Clerk of this court. Failure to do so will bar a de novo determination by the district judge of anything in the recommendation and will bar an attack, on appeal, of the factual findings of the Magistrate Judge. See 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(C); Lewis v. Smith, 855 F.2d 736, 738 (11th Cir. 1988); Nettles v. Wainwright, 677 F.2d 404 (5th Cir. Unit B, 1982)(en banc). The procedure for challenging the findings and recommendations of the Magistrate Judge is set out in more detail in SD ALA LR 72.4 (June 1, 1997), which provides that:

A party may object to a recommendation entered by a magistrate judge in a dispositive matter, that is, a matter excepted by 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A), by filing a 'Statement of Objection to Magistrate Judge's Recommendation' within ten days after being served with a copy of the recommendation, unless a different time is established by order. The statement of objection shall specify those portions of the recommendation to which objection is made and the basis for the objection. The objecting party shall submit to the district judge, at the time of filing the objection, a brief setting forth the party's arguments that the magistrate judge's recommendation should be reviewed de novo and a different disposition made. It is insufficient to submit only a copy of the original brief submitted to the magistrate judge, although a copy of the original brief may be submitted or referred to and incorporated into the brief in support of the objection. Failure to submit a brief in support of the objection may be deemed an abandonment of the objection.

A magistrate judge's recommendation cannot be appealed to a Court of Appeals; only the district judge's order or judgment can be appealed.

2. Transcript (applicable Where Proceedings Tape Recorded). Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915 and FED.R.CIV.P. 72(b), the Magistrate Judge finds that the tapes and original records in this case are adequate for purposes of review. Any party planning to object to this recommendation, but unable to pay the fee for a transcript, is advised that a judicial determination that transcription is necessary is required before the United States will pay the cost of the transcript.
